THE 1987 WILDCAT STAFF

Presents The

DIAMOND JUBILEE

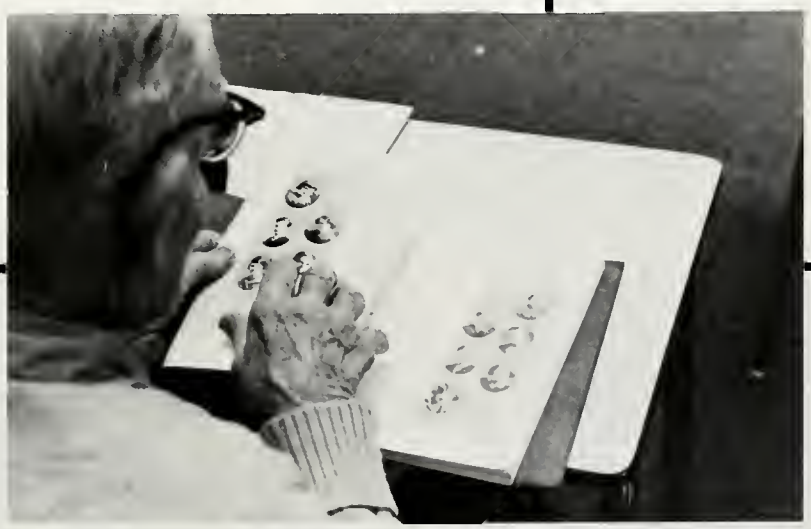
EDITION

MONDAY	TUESDAY	WEDNESDAY	THURSDAY	FRIDAY

South High School celebrates its seventy-fifth graduating class in 1987.

South High School
Springfield, Ohio
Vol. LXXXIII

Although the present home of South High School was begun in 1909, the Class of 1911 attended what was then known as Springfield High School only during their senior year and graduated from the present building. However, the Class of 1913 was the first class to attend SHS for all three years of their high school career and then to graduate from the present school. Thus, the Class of 1987 is the seventy-fifth class to complete their high school career in the building and therefore, we celebrate this year as the Diamond Jubilee Anniversary of SHS.



Mr. Larry Farrish, the oldest known living member of the Class of 1913, looks through the 1913 Yearbook after he had toured the building that was remodeled in 1980.

LUXURIES WE CAN'T LIVE WITHOUT

1.

If members of the class of 1911 were to come to South they would not believe all of the luxuries we have. Things such as indoor plumbing, computers, curling irons and televisions would be considered luxuries to them. But today these are considered necessities we can not live without. Microwaves, telephones, cars and VCR's are other items that seem essential to our everyday lives. We are used to these luxuries and most of us would not have been able to live without them and the lifestyle we have become accustomed to.

2.

1. Eddie Sheets demonstrates his computer knowledge in the Career Resource Center. 2. Today's cars are considered a necessity instead of a luxury by senior Brian Kidd. 3. Neil Portis does a fast cooking job in the modern micro-wave oven. 4. Heather Thomas knows she cannot start the day without her curling iron. 5. Jackie Tolliver prepares to put a movie in the VCR. 6. Holly Davis finds that the typewriter is a necessary luxury for completing written assignments. 7. Shebra Harvey gets ready to watch her "soaps" on TV. 8. The telephone is a luxury no teenager can live without.

6.

4.

"It's always easy to smile at South because so many people smile back" ... Michelle Curry.

FACES WE KNOW

1.

Faces display emotions — frustration, happiness, boredom, and senioritis are just a few of the faces we see. They are the same faces that everyone will display while he is here at this school. They come in all shapes, sizes and colors. There is one face that every student will show and that is the graduation face. The students have on a face to show that they are excited about graduation. This is a face of completion. The students have reached a goal they have been trying to accomplish-FINALLY!

2.

1. Brad Pratt gives a friendly face to Allen Tucker. 2. Phillip Truss smiles as Sunia Valles gives her Wildcat face. 3. Angie Yates shows her patient look. 4. Brian Leffel looks like he just heard good news. 5. The look of disbelief is expressed by Brenda Skiles. 6. Mr. Mike Rodgers has a drowsy face while on hall duty. 7. Max Cox is "chilling to the utmost" with his special look. 8. Cindy Corvin demonstrates a look of total disbelief.

6.

4.

"Taking part in the Mock Wedding has taught me how much work goes into planning a wedding" . . . Heather Williams.

7.

8.

3.

ACTIVITIES WE DO

1.

Are there activities for everyone? Well, South High students always have something to do whether it's in or out of school. South itself offers many activities that a student can get involved in whether it is playing a sport or just cheering on the athletes who play that sport. Of course, all things must come to an end and the activities at South do not fill all of a student's free time. There are many times that a group of friends get together for parties, movies, or just to go cruise. Whether at school or at home, South High students always have activities to participate in.

2.

1. Athletic Director Duane Baker receives final instructions before donating to the Key Club Blood Drive. 2. Jonathan Bender and Teresa Cooke enjoy a special moment at Homecoming. 3. Mr. Reed speaks at a special assembly for the prevention of drunk driving. 4. Brian Kidd, Brandon Jones, and David White practice for contest. 5. Rachel Wyant and "Cookie" Cooke perform on point during a presentation of "Fame." 6. Chad Michener, Lisa Wilson, Kevin Stone, Laura Booghier, and Audra Harshaw paint a Sophomore Booster sign for Spirit Week. 7. Kristin Slusher, Holly Davis, Krisitie Roberts, and Kris Dellapina find that Senior Booster misdeeds get them "locked" up. 8. Jeff Strodes gets a special singing Valentine from Brenda Skiles.

6.

4.

"I really enjoy tennis. It's extremly fun and it takes mental and physical ability" . . . Brian Kidd 7.

8.

3.

SPORTS WE PLAY

1.

From 1911 to now — basketball, baseball, and football have been played. In recent years, athletic departments have introduced a new line of sport teams including softball, wrestling, and gymnastic teams which are played by both men and women in many sport programs. In today's equal opportunity life style ,we have men cheerleaders and women basketball players. Sports are for everyone and everyone should really enjoy the sports they play.

2.

1. Tony Jeffrey gains yards as Troy Smith blocks. 2. Baseball apparatus. 3. Chanda Williams preparing to serve. 4. Thomas Millender running hard. 5. South wrestlers struggle in a match. 6. Kerry Henry Blocks a pass. 7. Kris Dellapina pushes towards the finish line. 8. Coach Taylor watches Souths moves.

6.

4.

"Fashions are fun because they're nice and relaxing this year" . . . Candy Adams.

7.

8.

3.

FASHIONS WE WEAR

1.

Coming down the hall is someone wearing jeans and a Coca-Cola shirt. Is this person male or female? Although most fashions that swept South this year could be worn by both males and females, guys drew the line when it came to jewelry or having matching shoes and purses.Hair styles seemed to always change. While the guys were getting their hair cut as short as it could be, girls were letting it grow so they could wear banana combs and bows. Will these styles be in fashion next year? One never knows what new styles are coming along.

2.

1. Tony Jeffrey, Donna Long, Troy Smith, Jada Young, and Rachel Wyant display a wide variety of '87 hair styles. 2. Brian Kidd and Brandon Jones model faded jeans. 3. Eric Upshaw dances in "baggies," suspenders, and bow tie. 4. Chad Mitchner and Ricky Bridgette show off spike hair cuts and the comfortable shirts of 1987. 5. Michelle Young wears the big shirt and jeans. 6. Donna Long is right in style with her denim jump suit. 7. LaTonya Martin poses in her mini skirt and sweat shirt ensemble. 8. Reebok's ready for action.

6.

4.

"I feel that the bags are very useful and also very cute. They have a lot of room to carry almost anything that you could dream of" . . . Andrea Stout.

7.

8.

3.

BAGS WE CARRY

1.

The bags we carry reflect our own personal style. Some are colorful; some are drab; some are canvas; some are leather, but carry bags are found on the shoulders of most SHS students. In most bags, along with the usual books and notebooks, you'll find trash, year old papers, clothing, candy, and maybe even lunch. Some students say they can't live without their bags, but teachers who stumble over them in classroom aisles wish they were nonexistent. Or at least hidden away.

2.

1. Krista Lindsay, Steve Goodin, Tawnell DeArmond, Dawn Reid, Trish Simmons, and Jeff Lithicum take up the whole hall way with their bags as they leave class. 2. There are many different styles of bags. 3. The aisles of any classroom are generally filled with carry bags. 4. Kris Dellapina can carry just about anything in her bag. 5. Fashion bags are found in stacks anywhere that students gather. 6. Tina Jones models her fashion bag. 7. Mrs. Dalie trips over a bag left in the middle of the floor. 8. Some people just don't or won't throw away their bags even when they began to age.

6.

4.

"The variety of classes here at South will definitely prepare you for future aspirations" . . . Jeff Linthicum.

7.

8.

3.

CLASSES WE TAKE

1.

If someone visited South from the class of 1920's, they would be amazed at all the new and different courses students have to choose from. There are now specialized courses that students have to choose from such as Choir, Art, Publications, and Drama. There are also new courses to expand the student's knowledge and benefit their futures. Among these are computers, physics, and psychology. Today's students' needs are met by leveling AP, College, General, and Basic so that students can work at their own level of ability. South offers more now to students than ever before.

2.

1. Kim Miller, Dianne Hinkle, and Tony Lawson work on an experiment in chemistry. 2. Ericka Rucker, Eric Stewart Trent Williams, William Casey, and Phil Truss listen to a History lecture. 3. Mr. Bob Norman uses an overhead projector to explain a point in government. 4. Kim Miller calculates a formula in chemistry. 5. Mrs. Cheryl Dalie converses with her Spanish III class. 6. Spencer Gibson checks out the camera for his Publications class.7.The Business Office is the place where Jill Wysong gets practical experience. 8. "The Hobbit" is required reading for General English 12.

6.

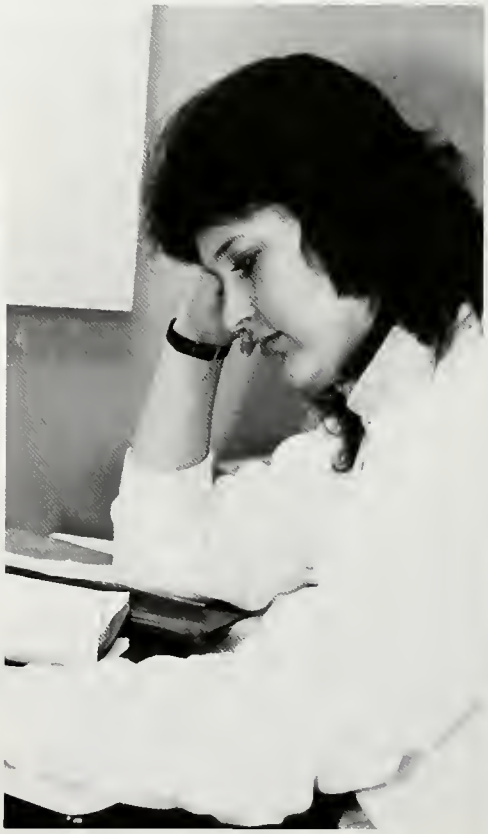
4.

"Some of us study hard; some of us study long, but some of us don't study at all" . . . Chris Foulk.

7.

8.



3.

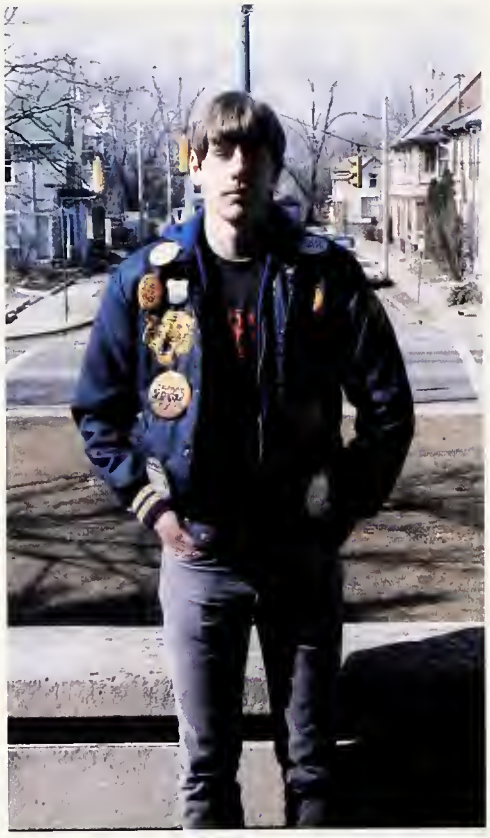
WAYS WE STUDY

1.

Most people study in the silence of the library, alone in their bedroom, or during a quiet study hall, but others may enjoy studying with a group, listening to their favorite tape, or studying over the phone. No matter how individuals study, the important thing is what is learned while studying. Some may learn more from skimming notes right before a test while others may need to study for hours. There are many ways to gain knowledge but studying, regardless of how or where, is the key to MAKING THE MOST OF GOALS ONE WISHES TO REACH!

2.

1. Varying degrees of concentration can always be found in study hall. 2. Candy Daniels is totally absorbed in the novel she is reading for English. 3. Kim Miller reads her assignment for the next day. 4. Craig Peterson and Renee Carter share their study habits. 5. Matt McKeever and Michelle Stevison find something other than books to study. 6. Hoping that information will pass through her book, Tracy Callison tries a different way of studying in government class. 7. Candy Daniels does some last minute studying outside her classroom. 8. D.C. Carroll concentrates in the library.



6.

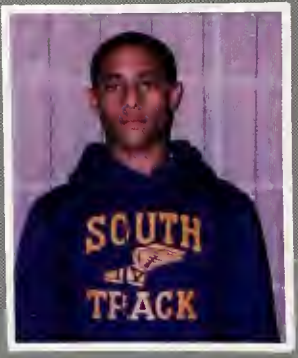
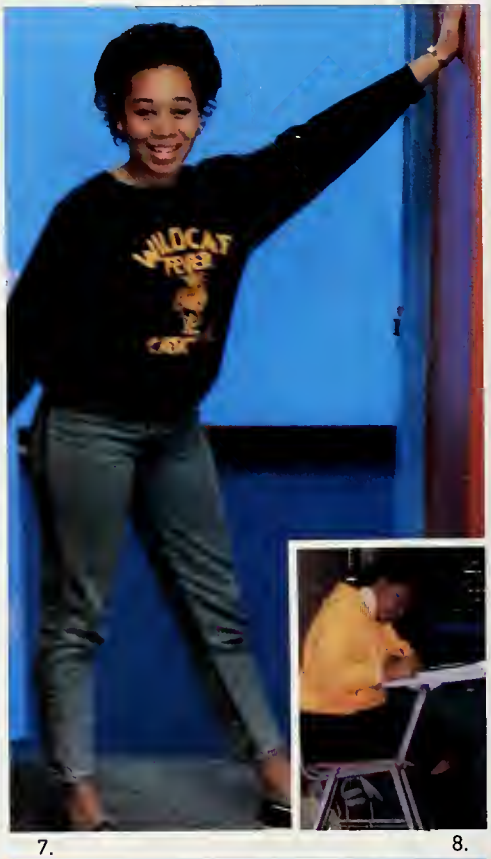
4.

"It's nice to be part of Blue and Gold Day at South, and to know the school supports you" . . . James Casey.





7.

8.

3.

SPIRIT WE DISPLAY

1.

What do cheerleaders, blue and gold, pep band, the "Fight Song" and friends have in common? Spirit! Here at South High School we are well-known for our Wildcat Spirit. As our athletes step off the bus and onto the field or court, the opponents know the Wildcat spirit is upon them. Pep rallies, Willie the Wildcat, pins, tee-shirts and the "Alma Mater" are all displays of the Wildcat spirit.

2.

1. Valerie Rose and Theresa Pankey dress in gold and blue to support the Wildcats on game day. 2. Inspite of an injury, Troy Smith supports the team on to victory from the sidelines. 3. Larry Lawrence wears his South Hoop shirt with pride. 4. Teresa Miller shows the "art" of wearing the standard spirit sweatshirt. 5. Spirit items are displayed for sale in the SHS bookroom. 6. Blue and Gold spirit buttons cover Tony Brook's jacket. 7. Mary Jo Applin sports her Spirit Club shirt. 8. Robbyn Clayborne shows her spirit as she studies in the hall.

6

7

"On the weekends, I spend time with my friends — playing cards, going to parties, and just doing what all teenagers do" ... Tawnell DeArmond.

PLACES WE GO

When the school bell rings at 3:15, swarms of students fill the streets, waiting for night and parties to begin. Everyone has their own thing from cruising on East Main to going to a friend's house. Many teenagers go to work or the mall and a lot go to the movies. During the day on Saturday or Sunday, South students can be found everywhere cruising in the park, going out to eat, watching television, doing homework, visiting out of town or even sleeping in until 2 or 3 o'clock.

2

1. Matt Montgomery, Todd Rife, Kevin Bowen and Brian Taylor practice their style for watching the girls go by. 2. Donald Day and Leon Moore enjoy a quick drink at McDonalds. 3. Kim Crabbe looks over the latest arrivals at the mall. 4. Dawn Reid waits patiently to order a snack at a local drive-thru restaurant. 5. Crowds fill the stadium on Friday nights to watch the Wildcats play football. 6. Kevin Taylor throws for a strike at the local bowling lanes. 7. Brandon Jones tries to decide whether to purchase a ticket for the movies. 8. Mike Malone displays his tickets to a special concert.

6.

4.

"I enjoy working with the Dennis L. Porter Funeral Home as the experience will help me in my desire to become a funeral director in the future" ... Charles Snodgrass.

7.

8.

3.

JOBS WE HOLD

1.

Do you ever wonder where everyone goes after 3:15? Most people just assume that everyone goes home or to some type of school activity, but some students are rushing out of South so they will not be late to a job. The most common places that South students work are restaurants, but then there are the lucky ones who get jobs in department stores or offices. Students hold jobs for various reasons: some because it is a necessity; some because they want independence from their parents, and others because they are saving for their future.

2.

1. Mike Barnett rings up a car for his small customers. 2. Darrin Webb stocks the juices before the store opens. 3. Spencer Gibson tries to find a spot for a pair of Reeboks. 4. Merri Swonger works hard at bagging merchandise for a customer. 5. Randy Self spends many evenings and week-ends working Famous Recipe. 6. James Soles checks the weight of a bunch of bananas before adding up the price of the sale. 7. Brenda Skiles straightens up at Harts Department Store. 8. Brian Leffel works at Hardee's after school and on the week-ends.

THE SCHOOL BELL RINGS

by Randy Self

All too soon the bell rings; familiar students flock to their new classes while the newcomers run in every direction but the right one. Some of the students have nowhere to run because they have lost their schedules. Usually by the time first period is halfway over, the majority of the students have reached their destination which is first period. However by the time lunch rolls around, students have their new lockers and a stack of books to put in them. Finally it's 3:15, and for most, the day has been a disaster. For freshmen it's the first day of high school and most are petrified. For the rest of the student body, it's not only the first day of school but the first night of homework and for some, the first day of teacher detention. The faculty sighs with relief, even though they know they will have to start all over tomorrow when the first tardy bell rings.

RAINY DAYS ON THE COURTS

by Eric Wilson

The Girls' Tennis team seemed a gray one due to their losses and a great deal of fall showers so they found it a bit hard to find "love" in the rain. However the second year team gained a lot of experience using this year's games for learning. "It was a good year and I hope to have a better one next year," said Junior Angie Yates.

This year's volleyball team gave all that they had and got little in return. "Determination and willingness to work hard are keys to success," stated Tina Jones, one of the five senior captains along with Dawn Reid, Tracy Callison, Nikki DuBose and Shari Babineaux. Even though their record doesn't show it, this year's volleyball team sacrificed their time and dedicated themselves to improving their own personal skills.

Despite the controversy over a coach, the freshman football team used teamwork and determination to pull off an impressive 7-2 season. Led by a quick striking offense and a hard-hitting defensive team, they were able to defeat most of their opponents fairly easily. Although they were defeated by two teams, the players felt they played to the best of their ability, and that was all anyone could ask of them.

TEAM WORK

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

"It was a great year despite our record," said Tony Jeffery. The Wildcat football team, under the direction of new head coach Earl Taylor, finished the season with a record of 3-7. Although the season wasn't very productive on the scoreboard, many of the players dug deep inside to maintain pride on and off the field. Coach Taylor often preached the "Do Right Rule" to the players (his rule of conduct to do what's right, not what you know is wrong.) The players learned a lot of skills and got good advice from the new head coach to improve themselves both on and off the field. Along with everything the football team learned, the most important goal was team concept and the respect for the new coach and each other.

"Rough and Tough and all that stuff" is what this year's South High Wildcat Varsity football team was made of. Even though the Wildcats looked mean and rough on the football field, during school and before the games on Fridays, the players would dress up and look the best they could. Although the players looked good, their record never seemed to peak, but that didn't stop the Wildcats from giving their all on the football field. Students in school noticed the overall team effort and friendship on and off the field. So coming from mind, heart, body, and soul, the Wildcat football team is Rough and Tough.

THE BAND MARCHES ON

by Andrea Stout

Marching with knees high, chins or horns raised, and hitting the line on eight are all the thoughts South's Band and Drill Team must keep in mind. Headed by Mr. Vrooman and Mr. Hoagland, the band sounded and looked better than ever. Brandon Jones, Drum Major, was a show stopper with his Pee-Wee Herman dance to "Wipe Out." As a part of the Band, the Drill Team, headed by new advisor Ms. Barcelona, worked excellently together and showed professionalism. Besides the fancy steps, newer routines, and kicks higher than the "Rockettes," the Drill Team was like a big happy family. The Band and Drill Team worked very hard all summer, at all day practices and camp, to show their stuff for festivals, parades, games and tours throughout the years.

FUN WITH FASHION

by Jada Young

What am I going to wear? That was the question most spirited students at South High asked themselves during Spirit Week. Spirit Week is when students display their Spirit by dressing up in outfits that correspond with a particular day. What is in style for the days are decided by the spirit board. The days include: Pee Wee Herman, Halloween, Gangster Day, Clon Day in which students would dress alike and of course our favorite day — Blue and Gold. Blue and Gold Day was held on a Friday because it is a tradition at South to wear blue and gold on Friday throughout the school year. Spirit Week is one of the many ways that students display their spirit at South.

EVERYBODY SHOUT

by Donna Long

"Clap your hands for the Wildcats" is the cheer that you are most likely to hear when you enter Evans Stadium or Tiffany Gym on Friday nights. The Wildcats Varsity and Reserve cheerleaders started camp preparation practice in June followed by the Freshman cheerleaders who began preparing in August for all home freshman games. The cheerleaders attended camp where they finished in the winning bracket by placing third in the all-around competition. For the first time in South High cheerleading, Donna Long was nominated as an All-American candidate. Even though she didn't win, Donna says, "It definitely was an experience." Through the cold and wet football games and the heat of the gym, one could always hear the spirited chants of the cheerleaders and their supportive fans.

KNIGHTS OF OLD

by Krista Lindsay

"Probably the greatest memory of all my years at South," was the feeling of Homecoming King Brandon Jones as he and Christi Newsome were crowned. It WAS a night to remember. The special events that led up to the actual crowning made the wait enjoyable. There was mass participation in Spirit Week, the pep rally, and the parade in which the members of the Court were featured along with other activity groups from South. The theme of the 1986 Homecoming was "Knights of Old," and the Commons was decorated beautifully for the dance. The D-J played a selection of old songs to which everyone danced and had a great time. "I've never seen so many people sweat like that in formal clothing," stated junior, Steve Goodin concerning the large crowd that danced the night away. Homecoming was an exciting, romantic highlight in the school year.

A SCHOOL OF THE PERFORMING ARTS

by Rachel Wyant

The fall play "Fame" transformed South High into a school of the Performing Arts (P.A. for short) and uncovered the many multi-talented students and faculty members at South. The student body responded to the exciting music and dance oriented play by buying out all the seats. Kim Kruger, a veteran of the stage, said "Many new people came out and it was a new experience working with them." The professional choreography of D. Scot Davidge, with the assistance of Gina Burch, polished the dance performance and the original music of Paul Cronely electrified the audience. "Fame" was a huge hit. "It got you involved and it moved you" said Spencer Gibson.

BE MY VALENTINE

by Eric Wilson

The Singing Valentines were fun for all. To celebrate the love at Valentine's Day, Senior Boosters sold singing valentines which the junior and senior boosters would deliver to the class and sing on Valentine's Day. The students loved them for many reasons; like student Todd Effingham "I liked it because it gets you out of class." Embarrassment, or just to show someone you care, either way people enjoyed purchasing singing valentines.

When asked to describe wrestling, Tony Holder said "The last of the immortals." Wrestling is more than just a sport; it is an art. The art of maneuvering your opponent into a position to pin him before he pins you. Wrestling consists of many rules that make it harder than it actually is. This year's wrestling team had a great season, sending Tony Holder and Andy Ramey to the state tournament.

The Boy's Gymnastic team this year showed that even with an increased number of beginning gymnasts, they still have great talent. The team was led by Leon Payne, who was the all around gymnast competing in all 6 events and finishing the season with 25 first places. Jason Dougthy, who was in all events but horse, was named most improved gymnast. Ms. Reno said that she was very pleased with the team this year and since only two were seniors, next year's team will be experienced.

The Freshman Blue, coached by Mr. Jim Moyers, and the Freshmen Gold, coached by Mr. Mike Carter, played one another in the W.O.L. championship. The Gold won 41-40. The Reserves coached by Mr. Bruce Rasor won their W.O.L. with a record of 8-1. The Reserves had an overall record of 16-4, the best in three years. Mr. Rasor says, "The high point of the year was when we beat two undefeated teams, Xenia and Trotwood, back-to-back." Rasor also goes on to say that "Stacy Davis and Tyrone Cole led the team in scoring with 10.2 and 10.0 averages."

RIM WRECKERS

by: Brandon Jones

Excitement is the one word that best describes a South basketball game. The Cats never let their fans down with their speed, ball handling skills and excellent shooting. They kept every game full of life. The Cats ended their regular season with a 15-6 record and the Cats never went down in those six games without a fight. Five of those 6 losses were less than 8 points and when the Cats scored, they really scored. They passed the 100 point mark in two of their games. Mr. Wiseman and his players were definitely a team that built excitement.

WELCOME TO WILDCAT COUNTRY

by: Heather Williams

"Welcome to Wildcat Country" was what everyone who attended a South basketball game heard before the introduction of the players. This year's team was definitely worth introducing because it was full of stars. When thinking of the stars of speed and stealing the ball, no one can forget the duo of Jerry Arnold and Chris Chilton. There were also stars such as Jeff Strodes, who kept teams remembering "Strodes is spoken here." Who could forget our star shooters Brandon "Air" Jones who never seemed to miss an outside shot and Todd "Sky" Walker who always seemed to be there to come up with the points when the heat was on. Of course these are just a few of the stars that sent most opponents home from Wildcat Country with a loss.

"We've Got Spirit, S-P-I-R-I-T Spirit Let's hear it." This cheer is heard by the fans and cheerleaders at every school event, such as football games, basketball games and pep rallies. The fans and cheerleaders have fun — yelling, screaming and cheering for their school team. Even teachers are fans and have exciting evenings going to school functions. So let's hear it for the Wildcats — and keep that Spirit up.

Did you ever wonder what the class officers do? Many people think that class officers do nothing all year, but your officers begin as Freshmen planning for your Senior year. They are the ones who plan those candy sales, car washes, jewelry sales, and then beg, plead, and threaten to get you to take part in the "fun." The officers do this to raise money for the class's senior year and such things as senior class trip and the senior gift to the school. The officers at the head of the class are not there for the fame and glory, but to work to make your last year at South High the best that it can be.

Even though they lost senior starting catcher Holly Davis with a broken hand, Varsity softball still proved the unthought of with a season record of 17-10. The Lady Cats went into tournament on a roll and for the first time in South's history, they played in the tournament finals. Although they did not win the District, they made a strong showing in a rain delayed outing, Sheila Evans said, "Even though things got a little bumpy towards the end, we were still a team." Dawn Bennett also added, "Sure we didn't win the W.O.L. but there is always next year. We're a strong team."

This year's track team excelled to its best season in two years. By sending members to the State Meet in relays as well as hurdles, the Wildcats topped off a great season. The Boys' Mile Relay which consisted of Leon Payne, Stacy Davis, Wayne May, and Troy Morris went to the State with Leon being the only senior on the relay. Leon also advanced in the 300 Low Hurdles to the State Meet and he had to miss graduation so that he could participate in the State Meet. Although the girls only sent two members to the state, next year is definitely looking brighter and faster for Girls' track.

GETTING TOGETHER

by Krista Lindsay

The only place that you'll catch all the students of South together is at an assembly. Students gather for many occasions. They crowd themselves in to either the gym or the auditorium for many programs ranging from the Air Force Band to the SADD Chapter assembly, remembering those who have been killed or injured in accidents involving drunk drivers. From pep assemblies to Shakespeare workshops — from special musical performers to guest speakers — students laugh and cry, cheer and yell when they "get together" for assemblies.

What flies through the air with the greatest of ease and balances on a tiny bar like a butterfly? In the early spring the answer to these questions can be found with the members of Gymkana team as they prepare for their annual gymnastics show. After all the competition is completed, the SHS gymnasts are joined by local alumni as they work together to present one of the most exciting shows seen at South. These young people, under the guidance of Coach Ann Reno, put their stunts together to music and comic routines and present a fast-paced evening that thrills young and old alike.

That's Entertainment

by: Heather Williams

When was the last time you watched an old man sword fight with a wind mill? Who really cares about a NERD who fights imaginary dragons and sings while he duels. Apparently many of the students and fans of the South High School drama Department enjoyed these dreamy exploits as they filled the auditorium four times to watch Don Quixote, played by David Hobbs, and his sidekick Sancho, played by Kenny Carter, fight for their impossible dreams. High ideals and great performances were the watch-words of the cast of Man of La Mancha as they presented this year's popular Spring Musical.

SCHOLARS ARE HONORED

by Brandon Jones

The Herald calls; the inductees are tapped; and the ceremony begins. This is the process by which a South High junior or senior is inducted into the National Honor Society. Students must have a 3.5 grade point average and at least two activities to be considered for NHS.

by Brandon Jones

After the Herald has blown for the last time, the inductees are now initiated into the National Honor Society of South High School. Family and friends then leave the auditorium and join the new NHS members for refreshments and conversation in the library. It is a special time — a time for fellowship, congratulations, and retrospect on the importance of NHS.

South is very lucky to have a wide variety of talented groups who present their music in concert throughout the year. South's choirs cover everyone's taste. From the sophisticated sounds of the symphonic choir to the pop music of the jazz choir, a music lover is bound to find the perfect blend of vocal music. The instrumental music lover has an even wider range of musical varieties ot choose from. Each of these groups performs concerts which are available to the student body and the public as well.

It was that time of year again, the time to recognize the excellent students of South High School. This year the awards were done slightly different. Instead of all the students being recognized at an all school assembly, it was divided up among classes. This helped to make the awards more personalized and to show each class who was at the top.

A NIGHT TO REMEMBER

by Eric Wilson

Sadness knowing it was one of the last nights together or happiness knowing that it was all over soon. Either way it was summed up best by teacher Barbara Wilson, "Class night is always special and this year it was even more touching." And special it was, after the wonderful dinner at the Holidome, students were recognized for honor and achievement that they had earned. One special award given was the Ross Barrett award presented to Kay Pezoldt for her academic excellence. After all formalities were done the students spent the rest of the evening dancing the night away.

GREAT ANTICIPATION

by: Krista Lindsay

Most have dreamed of it since their high school career began. They looked forward to graduation with great anticipation. And when it got down to within a few weeks of it is when the rat race began. Students worried about exams, mailing graduation announcements and what they were going to do after high school. Moments were taken to look back on all the good times they've had. Tears were shed. Pranks were pulled. Plans were being made. The 1987 graduating class celebrated the pre-graduation activities by having class recognition night at school and class night at the Holidome. These were the finishing touches to their "great anticipation."

Mother Nature had given the 1987 South High graduation class the best possible gift. June 6, 1987, the seniors' special day, could not have been more gorgeous. The 75th graduating class's Grand Finale was excellent. They had finally finished their journey. The diamond class would finally be heading for their futures. Although the ceremony was held at Evans Stadium, football was the last thing on anyone's mind. Graduates hugging and shedding tears seemed not quite ready to leave. Then there were others glad it was all over, ready to receive their diplomas and begin their new lives.

The Diamond Class of 1987 finished a chapter of their lives they will never forget. Those who met the requirements to march in the graduation ceremony will never again march the halls of South High. Most were glad to be graduating but they will look back on their high school career with fond memories. "Mostly I will miss seeming my friends everyday," said Brian Kidd. The diamond class truly is once in a lifetime and lasting forever.

This year's 1987 Yearbook staff worked hard to complete all deadlines to put the pages together for another trip down memory lane. The advisor, Mrs. Field is a tremendous help and is serious about this activity. Each year the Board of Directors must come up with a theme for our Yearbook. Brandon Jones, one of the Board members says "My mother gave me the idea of using the Diamond Jubilee as this year's theme." Being on staff is a lot of fun and also hard work, but after the work is over and the book is complete and ready to pass out, we must say it is a job well done and we feel proud.

"You all want fame? Well, fame costs and right here is where you start paying — in sweat." That's the motto of the South High Drama Department headed by Mrs. Kathi Lindsay-White. Those special people who help the drama department tick are the Thespians. Whether it's behind the scenes or on the stage, the Thespians donate their time, effort and talent to make the most of the school's productions. Thespians are sponsored by the Adult Boosters and Friends of Thespians. They are the heartbeat of the drama department.

Music is the combination of different instruments in an effort to perform as a melodious whole. Although there are many small ensembles that make up the entire group, the music which comes from the bandroom is that of a well seasoned band. Beginning in Ausust and working through June, the band, under the direction of Mr. Steve Vrooman and Russ Hoagland, work many hours striving for perfection that is found in all performances. This year's officers are: Pres. Brian Kidd, V-Pres. Donald Day, Sec./Treas. Matt McKeever and Rum Major Brandon Jones.

POISE, CONCENTRATION, AND CONTROL

by Andrea Stout

Being a member of the South High School Drill Team takes a lot of poise, concentration, and CONTROL. These things come from dedication and hard work on the part of each member. Practice begins in the summer with Drill Team, Band, and Day Camp, and continues with daily practices during the school year. With the leadership of Advisor Kim Barcelone, Captain Teresa Cooke, and Assistant Captains Missy Wallace and Tracy Michner, the group built their poise, sharpened their concentration, and when the ladies put on a show at half time, there was always total CONTROL.

DRILL TEAM

"Stop the presses; a new story must be added to the front page!" For the tri-weekly Herald, stopping the press is not a common demand but this year with the all new computerized format, there were lots of changes and lots of chances to try new looks and new story forms. Under the leadership of Mrs. Joan Butz, the SHS newspaper is one of the highlights of the day when the papers are delivered to homeroom. Moving from the third floor to the first, Orchestra which is one of the many music classes that can be taken at South, is very exciting. The class consists of about twenty-five people who play instruments that range from the violin to the trumpet. Most of the instruments played are strings and the people who play them combine their skills to perform beautiful and pleasant sounding music. They perform in concerts, at different schools, and they back the choir also. These are just a few of the interesting things that the orchestra has to offer the student body of South.

Service clubs such as Key Club and Library Club are very important and help South to run smoothly. These students dedicate their free time and time after school to do volunteer work in the school and community. Key Club had a very successful Blood Drive. Library Club members kept the well organized for their fellow students. Jonathan Bender, an active Key Club member said, "Key Club is the primary and most rewarding organization in which our students can service and improve our community." At South service is given in abundance and with a smile.

SPIRIT OF SOUTH

by: Eric Wils

A lot of spirit of South High School is guaranteed by the Boosters. This year two of the Booster groups which helped do this were the Junior and the Sophomore Boosters. The Juniors with the supervision of Mrs. Alice Marshall and the Sophomores with their superviser Mrs. Barb Wilson both led their classes on in spirit and being the heart of the Sophomore and Junior classes and had fun doing it. "We were always busy doing something and we had fun at the same time" said Junior Booster Rene Richmond.

"We're just one big senioristic family." is how Jeff Linthicum described the Senior Boosters. This year the Boosters were made up of 41 students who put their time and energies into such activities as Homecoming, the Junior-Senior basketball game, and Valentine's Day. The Boosters are not above any other students, just a group of student leaders who strive to set examples for South High School.

CONGRATULATIONS
CLASS OF 1987

This year's Spirit Club has been a very important part of the wins that the Wildcat teams have had. The loud chants of the Spirit Club and the fans have helped motivate the teams to victory. Besides the regular chants like "Go, Go, you gotta get up and go," the Spirit Club's favorite cheer was "Chillin to the Utmost." The Spirit Club advisor was Ms. Sarber and the president was Nikki Deboise.

The Black Awareness Unity Club is an organization that helps promote young black students into self-betterment. "Black Awareness is a club that helps students to identify and to improve themselves," says April Wells, the secretary of the Black Awareness Club. Mrs. Josella Abrams and Mrs. Kelly Smith, the advisors of the Black Awareness Unity Club, help organize talent shows, fashion shows and other fund raisers to finance club projects. As a group the members of the Black Awareness Unity Club get an opportunity to improve themselves and to support the School and community.

GOOD LUCK,
SENIORS

The S.A.D.D. chapter at South was formed in October of 1984 because of the concern of a few students who cared about their peers. These students put in their time to get a point across that we should not drink and drive. Each year S.A.D.D. has an activity week. To highlight the week they have an all school assembly. During the assembly there is a candle light ceremony in remembrance of all Clark County persons killed or injured in drunk driving for that year. The S.A.D.D. students are also helped by a group of talent students who call themselves the Prevention Seeker. They work together so that all of us can make it to our future.

Welcome to WILDCATS MATH-LAND where "We All Count." Mr. Jim Moyers has started the 1986-87 school year off by starting The Math Help Program, which lets students come back and seek help in trouble areas. For the fourth year Mr. Moyers held a test called the EMPT (Early Math Placement Test) to find students weak and strong points in math. With these programs students are aided in decisions involving scheduling and college preparation.

The trainers at South are considered the foundation of athletics because of their responsibility to prevent and care for injuries of the athletes. Mr. Mike Willets described the trainer's worth by saying, "Without the trainers the athletics would suffer . . . South is lucky to have one of the best training facilities in the league, even better than some small colleges."

1. Brenda Skiles takes time between tappings to relax. 2. Waiting to spring into action, Jody Longberru watches the football game. 3. Brenda Skiles assists Jerry "Spud" Arnold in treating a sore thigh. 4. Emily Speaks helps James Queen with his helmet. 5. Max Cox carries water to Reserve Football players during a break in the action. 6. Mr. Willets, Patty Arnold, and Barb Massie stand by at a Varsity Football game. Rick Folden dashes into action during a timeout.

You will find that many students take Industrial Arts for the pleasure as well as career experience. These classes give students "hands-on" training. It also gives them a chance to experiment with different vocations to see what they would be interested in. Industrial Arts could be a stepping stone to a whole new range of interests for students.

1. Mr. Crew the drafting teacher. 2. Pictures of the lave. 3. Tools used in woods class. 4. Mr. Conover retired teacher of South high. 5. Mr. Seeright instricts a student in printing class. 6. "Hola!" "Quid Agis?" "Comment-allez vous?" and all that foreign language stuff! Foreign language can be fun if you apply yourself and stick to it. Mademoiselle Mary Miller says, "Because up to three years of a foreign language is now a requirement at most colleges, competency in language is being stressed in high school."

1. Jenny Kaech, a second year Latin student, prepares to take a test. 2. Sunia Valles reads about Spanish culture. 3. Dawn Rothgeb translates her Latin for Mr. Kennan. 4. Motto for a foreign language. 5. Miss Miller puts together worksheets for her French classes. 6. "Michel" takes a test. 7. Scott Riley takes a test.

The library is the place where everyone comes for some answers or just to get away from study hall. Most students and staff find themselves in the library at some time or another searching for answers or gaining knowledge. With the help of the library staff and aids, they gain their answers and knowlege.

1. Mrs. Satoris looking for the answer to a student's question. 2. Paula Hilling looks up from reading her paper. 3. Cecily Phillips, a library aide. 4. Thomas Millender searches for a book. 5. Beth Sparks flips through the card catalogue. 6. The heart of the library. 7. Larry Wilson works for the library.

Some people think of Physical Education as just a requirement, others take as many phys. ed. classes as they can. Mr. Razor, Mrs. Bass, Mr. Copeland, and Miss Reno make up the physical education department. There are many courses offered by the department that prepare students for the future and help them to be more physically fit.

1. Pat Bass instructs students on the vigors of being in her gym class. 2. Some students participate in a game of floor hockey. 3. Phys Ed. instructor Bruce Razor on a break outside the gym. 4. A look at the girls locker room after everyone has left. 5. Chris Ryhal enjoys a game of field hockey. 6. Dennis Worthington readies to throw a wiffle ball. 7. James Casey awaits the ball as he plays a game of pickle ball.

Anyone can take a business course and if you ask, most people will tell you that they already have, or plan to. The business courses offered help pre-pare the student for business and clerical careers, or just offer a general background in business. The business department offers many courses in which many students enroll to become more familiar with the business aspect of life.

1. Shanin Thompson, a typing student. 2. Angela Souders, a typing student. 3. Ella Smith works in the business office. 4. Teresa Baker displays her typing skills. 5. Heather Thomas works in accounting class. 6. Clarence Williams and Shawn Washington practice their typing abilities. 7. Mr. Charles Caldwell takes a break in the business office.

THEY HOLD ALL THE ANSWERS

Can you imagine having to read The Scarlet Letter when you can't see the print or take notes in a history class when you can't hear the instructor? Think you have a problem? Well, not if you're a student at South. Students with special problems have the same opportunities in the class room as any other student because of the special aides and interpretors who assist those people with special problems.

GOOD LUCK
CLASS OF '87

SHS — 75 YEARS OF

LEARNING

In today's schools, students are given the opportunity to develop vocational skills as well as academic skills.

Art as well as music and drama are offered to students who have creative talents or who wish to learn more about the humanities.

Science offers a challenge as students experiment with the microscope.

Note taking is a major task in most academic courses today as students and teachers strive for excellence in education.

As always, the teacher remains an important role in the process of learning and discovering the world around us.

SHS-75 YEARS OF

GROWING

MONDAY	TUESDAY	WEDNESDAY	THURSDAY	FRIDAY
			Drama productions offer students a chance to express their talents.
Students become interested in community affairs as they join forces with the adult populace in an effort to pass the Bond Issue for the schools.		Vanessa Dornon and Jennifer Parker present the SHS Band to the crowd at a football game.
	Teresa Cooke takes on the role of lawyer as the AP Government class holds a mock trial for "child abuse."
